ILW.COM
The Leading Immigration Law Publisher

EB-5 for the Chinese Investor

By: Mona Shah

EB-5 for the Chinese Investor by Mona Shah

Book Outline

The EB-5 visa is an increasingly popular way for many Chinese people to obtain permanent residence status in the U.S. It is the one of the few visas that involves no long waits for Chinese nationals and requires no labor market test to prove unavailability of U.S. workers, no anchor relative in the United States to petition on an immigrant's behalf, no claim of extraordinary or exceptional ability, no fear of persecution in the homeland, no business to manage directly on a day-to-day basis, and no job to perform for a sponsor.

Table of Contents

- EB-5 TRENDS AND DEVELOPMENTS IN CHINA
- EB-5 PROGRAMS
- EB-5 PETITION PROCEEDURE
- REGIONAL CENTERS
- U.S. RULES AND REGULATIONS: WHAT THE CHINESE INVESTOR MUST KNOW ABOUT U.S. SECURITIES LAW AND TAX LAW
- FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

About the Author

Mehreen Shah or Mona Shah, as she is more commonly known was born in the UK and graduated from the University of Northumbria in England in 1990. She was admitted as a Solicitor of the Supreme Court of England & Wales in 1993, and was admitted to the New York Bar and the United States Federal Bar in 1997.

After moving to New York in 1995, she established her own law firm in New York City in 1997. The firm handles legal matters for clients worldwide and she travels frequently to China. Her firm also has a London affiliate office which allows for the representation of European, Middle-Eastern and South Asian clients.

Mona has over 17 years of legal experience, with more than 13 years concentrated in U.S. immigration and family law and litigation. Her firm, Mona Shah and Associates, represents individual, high profile and corporate clients from all over the world. Mona is highly proficient and experienced in EB-5 law and practice founders of New York City Regional Center and the only Immigration Attorney on the team. Mona has authored and published numerous articles including EB-5 related articles. She has written and spoken extensively on immigration law. She is often featured as a guest speaker at legal seminars and on local television news programs.

The Leading Immigration Law Publisher

EB-5 for the Chinese Investor

By: Mona Shah

Buy Now

Free Shipping and Handling (Taxes included)

Disclaimer: Buying this book does not create an attorney-client relationship. Returns based on damaged books will be replaced and reshipped at no extra charge. Orders once placed cannot be cancelled.

$ 24.99
EB-5 for the Chinese Investor By Mona Shah [ ]

Name (as it appears on credit card): _____

E-mail (required): _____ Phone: (required)_____

Credit Card: (circle one: V/M/A/D)_____ Expiry (Month/Year): _____

Credit Card Billing Address: _____

_____

_____

_____

Shipping Address: _____

_____

_____

_____

Or MAIL ORDER and include check payable to ILW.COM.

To Fax: Send order form to 212.545.0869 WITH a copy of the check THEN mail check to us.