Dawn M. Lurie is a shareholder at Polsinelli, PC. She is recognized in the legal community as a sophisticated and forward thinking immigration compliance authority and EB-5 investment strategist. She focuses on visa and compliance issues. Dawn is proud to be considered a trusted partner to corporate clients and is relied on for her ability to spot impending government enforcement trends. She has represented clients in the EB-5 program since the early years of the program's inception, in the 1990s. Her experience has evolved over the last two decades as the EB-5 program progressed from an obscure means of obtaining U.S. residency, to a viable mechanism of funding a significant portion of the capital stack for large-scale projects and infrastructure building across industries. Attending EB-5 Board hearings in D.C., participating in the stakeholder conversation process with the USCIS and advocating for EB-5 immigration reform, provides her clients with a unique Washington perspective. Dawn serves on the EB-5 trade association's (IIUSA) Best Practices Committee and is a past Chair of the DC Chapter of the American Immigration Lawyers Association (AILA).

Patrick Harvey has a B.S. in Finance & Philosophy from Fordham University. He started his career as a DOT Operator for Fossett on the NYSE Futures & Options Floor. Within three months, he became a specialist clerk on the American Stock Exchange for Charlton, Goin & Spearleeds. At the six-month window, he became an options trader for Fossett Securities; he traded firm capital for several years, taking negative-gamma risk positions in companies such as Dupont, Westinghouse and Phillip Morris. Circa 1995, Mr. Harvey held a Series 7, 63 and 55. In 1998, he became a partner at Precision Trading Group in Stanford, CT. Two years later, he moved on to trade with U.S. Securities & Futures in NYC, trading stocks, futures and options. Mr. Harvey began trading currency for Sanwa Bank of Japan in 2001. While there, he traded currencies, currency futures and options, and interest rate swaps. In 2003, Mr. Harvey moved over to Opus Fund at BNP Paribas where he traded commodities – oil, gas and hydrocarbon products. This developed into fund management. As a PE manager, he invested in the project development of, as well as traded in, the commercial feedstock and off-take products of refineries, power plants, solar and wind farms, and ethanol facilities. During this timeframe, his team deployed capital into numerous, large-scale, energy-related infrastructure projects. In 2006, he left the fund to pursue grass-roots start-up investments. In 2007, Mr. Harvey joined ABK Venture Group as a part-time advisor, and then became a Partner and subsequently a managing partner. He pursued venture capital, private equity fundings and foreign direct investments utilizing EB-5 capital. In 2011, ABK was awarded the sole financing contract for the Louisiana International Gulf Transfer Terminal (LIGTT). Mr. Harvey and Mr. Alan Valdes are the two founding principals of the LIGTT venture. Mr. Harvey provides commentary at the NASDAQ and NYSE for Reuters-CCTV, Phoenix, Wall Street Multimedia and Xinhua.
